Lots of Local Election Activity, Leonard Hill Returning Officer

Leonard Hill has been busy the past week or so, ever since the announcement of a provincial election, for Leonard is Returning Officer for the Gleichen Constituency. To him falls the work of launching the election machinery, including enumeration of the voters' list, appointing deputy returning officers, choosing polling booths and naming poll clerks and so on. And there is none too much time for the preliminaries to be completed with, for the election is August 17.

So far there have been two nominations of candidates for the Gleichen constituency. Hon. George Bell who has represented the district through the past session, was re-nominated by the Social Credit party in nominating convention a few weeks ago.

Jonathan Wheatley was nominated by the Independent Association at its nominating meeting a short time back, which was held in Strathmore.

Enumeration duties this year are being conducted for the Strathmore area by Mrs. Leo MacKenzie, who at this date has most of the work done. Mrs. MacKenzie reports a considerable increase in the voters' list this election, since there are a large number of former servicemen who are now eligible as voters. At the time of the last election, if they were eligible, their names appeared $300 IS A LOT OF MONEY TO BE handed "just like that", and that's one reason why Mrs. Charlie Bennett looks so pleased as E. W. Schick hands her a cheque for that amount. She won it in a Kellogg Corn Flake contest.

Hard Luck Forces Norman Jones To Take Holiday

It's tough when you can't get a holiday and want one, but according to Norman Jones, it's tougher still when you have to take one you weren't counting on.

Norman is in that position now, and left early this week on a trip to the States, with Mrs. Jones.

The trip came up, really, because Norman is such a good salesman that he ran right out of machines. He has orders right now for considerably more Hydraulic Farmhands than he can get across the Customs, so he's making this trip to see if some arrangements cannot be made to lower the bars.

The difficulty arose because the machines are used commercially by many firms in the United States, and so were classified as such by the Dominion Government, which seems not to appreciate the fact that here they are used by individual farmers.

Norman's sales record, by the way, gives a very rosy picture. He has more sales of the hay stacker than any other dealer in Canada, and so far as he knows at the present, than any dealer in the States.

While they are in the States, they will visit the plant where they are made, and expect to make a couple of other business calls on the return journey which is likely to take them to Ontario.

Nightingale Churches Plan Picnic Service

by Mrs. F. H.

The Nightingale Women's Institute held their regular meeting on Friday with fifteen members present. The ladies decided not to bother with Christmas Cards this year. All members are asked to bring in a patchwork quilt block next meeting which will be August 6 at the home of Mrs. Charles Kimmet. Also bring in patterns to choose one from for next year's conference quilt. Mrs. Grace Christoffersen was the hostess.

August 1 the Anglican and United Church groups are combining with the Sunday School group to have a service at 3:00 p. m. This will be followed by a picnic supper. Coffee, lemonade, and ice cream will be furnished. There will be races for the youngsters and prizes for the winners. Everyone come and have a good time. Rev. D. A. Ford and Rev. A. A. Hamilton will be in charge.

Sunday forenoon the home of Henry Walls was destroyed by fire. Most of the furnishings of the first floor were saved by the quick work of neighbors who quickly gathered. None of the family was at home at the time the fire started.

Residents in and around Nightingale donated the sum of $71.00 to the British Columbia Flood Emergency Fund. Mrs. Harley Harriman, the local collector, says "Thanks to you all" again.

Friday evening, the W. I. sponsored a dance at the hall and a small crowd danced to the good music rendered by Mrs. Whittaker's Orchestra. Watch for the announcement of the next dance here, if you are sorry you missed this one.

Miss Vivian Thurston was in Calgary over the week-end for a tonsillectomy.

Bob Putnam's mother is visiting here from her home in Wetaskiwin.

Providential Rain Saves Local Crops From Tough Drought

Rain which started Tuesday afternoon, and continued through the evening and most of Wednesday, promised great relief to crops which were starting to show severe lack of moisture during recent hot days.

Rainfall during July in this area has been notably below normal, even where normal has been all too low, and many fields were beginning to show the effects of prolonged drought.

The rain started with a rather heavy burst, and reports were received of some hail on the west edge of the Bow Valley area, but apparently there was not sufficient to do much damage. After falling for some time this way, it settled down to a more or less steady drizzle, and continued to soak in. Farmers and townsmen alike were delighted.

According to the station at the W. I. D. the fall amounted to .70 inches, and at Gleichen to .80 in.

Rockyford Youngsters Hold Own Stampede

In the afternoon at Memorial Park the Stampede events took place, consisting of Cowboy songs by the gang, dances, trick bicycle

On Friday night the Midland and Pacific Elevator at Hussar was burned to the ground, by fire which was discovered about nine o'clock. Some 3500 bushels of grain was estimated to be lost in the blaze, together with some of the company's books. Spreading of the fire was averted by the village fire brigade, and no further loss was sustained.

The first inkling of the fire came from a phone call from Chancellor asking Mrs. V. P. LeGrandeur if there were a fire. She replied: "Not that I know of", then went to the door to behold the smoke pouring over the town. She sent word down to those attending the movie, at the same time setting off the siren.

At the same time, Mrs. H. L. Moulton and Mrs. H. B. Stitt, who was visiting from Bawlf, Alberta, discovered the smoke and rushed to Main Street, to find the elevator in flames. The fire was discovered at about nine and was beyond any possibility of saving the elevator. Some of the books were taken out by Raymond Blake, but he could not make a second trip into the office. Luck was with the Village fire fighters; as the flames were driven away from the Imperial Oil Warehouse between the burning elevator and the Pioneer; also the grass was too green for the many fires started by the burning shingles that flew far away, carried by the wind. Luckily the U. G. G. did not catch fire either. About ten-thirty the terrific and awe inspiring sight was over; the elevator reduced to a burning heap; so many went back to see the rest of the show. Men took turns watching all night; as the wind turned about and was quite strong. They had quite a surprise when cans of D. D. T. began to explode. The fire was still smouldering Saturday evening.

Mrs. Charlie Bennett Receives $300 Prize Money in Contest

Mrs. Charlie Bennett learned late last week that the prize she had won in a recent Kellogg Corn Flake contest amounted to $300, and was delighted to receive a cheque for this amount from E. W. Schick, and A. E. Plump, of the Kellogg Company.

Mrs. Bennett's prize was for winning first place in the second period of the contest, featuring the idea, "Who are We?" She learned much earlier that she had won, but had no notion what the prize amounted to.

Mr. Tom Oldham, the dealer who sold the package of corn flakes to Mrs. Bennett, also received a cheque for fifty dollars from the company.

Mrs. Bennett has been entering contests for years, she says, but has not been a winner previously. However, she's wondering now if there might be a future to it.

EIGHT MILES OF SIDEWALKS

Reading through a number of exchanges the other day, we ran across the item below in the Wainwright Star. We had missed the original article, but feel that this is closer to home in any case. Wainwright seems to be situated much more in the same position as Strathmore.

It intrigued us when we read it. That is why we mean to mention it here. The other day while reading through the "Camrose Canadian" of the latest issue, we came across an article stating that eight miles of sidewalk would be built this year in that town. The question immediately came to our mind, why can't we have at least one block of new cement sidewalk in Wainwright this year, and each year thereafter until the whole town is laid out with something substantial to walk on.

Think of it — eight miles. On the basis of 500 foot blocks, which most of ours in Wainwright are, this works out to approximately 84 blocks of sidewalk to be laid in one year.

Now by no means do we advocate the Town of Wainwright going out on a limb to the extent of trying to accomplish the completing of 84 blocks of sidewalk in one year. But if a start were made this year, or even next spring after the budget, to lay say two or three blocks of cement sidewalk it would only be a matter of ten years or so and the whole town, we will be adequately served with something substantial to walk on beside the dust and dirt that we now have.

In Wainwright it is, as we present a common complaint in walking. Either it is muddy in the spring, dusty in the summer or snowy in the winter. One of three things. Why? — Because there is no sidewalk. As for financing the building of say three blocks of sidewalk a year it could be done out of current revenue or the better way, financed through frontage taxes. We say better to the latter because it is the householder which receives most benefit from such sidewalks. Therefore if the newly constructed sidewalk passes the householder's door he should pay his share in having said sidewalk laid. It would seem unfair to impose a general levy for sidewalks and tax the man who lives on the east side of town if in that year the sidewalk was to be laid on the west side of main street. Either system of paying for such public services, for that is what sidewalks are, has its merits and demerits. It is up to the council to consider which is in the best interests of the citizens. The important thing, and we say this without fear of contradiction, Wainwright is sadly lacking in sidewalk facilities. The sooner the start is made in providing these, the sooner we will all be able to boast of a town which we enjoy living in. Is this not correct?

JUMPING THE FREIGHT RATES

All Western Canada seems to be up in arms over word that the Railways have asked for an additional twenty percent increase in freight rates, with an interim, and immediate boost of fifteen percent. Not the least reason for their discontent is that they have not yet been satisfied over their objections to the first increase of 21 percent granted last March.

A further boost of 20 percent will have the effect of increasing freight rates by more than forty-five percent in less than six months. Necessary or not, the effect of such a boost may well be ruinous to the economy of the prairie provinces. It means that they will have to pay considerably more for nearly everything they have to buy, and that they will receive considerably less for everything they ship out, since it will have to compete with other produce having the advantage of cheaper hauls.

For farmers, particularly, the effect cannot but be disastrous, because they are helplessly in the hands of the railways. They have no other means available of shipping in their machinery, or shipping out their production.

To farm groups who last spring were in king recession, this is only one more giant argument in favour of their policy and to those who were hesitatingly considering it, it may be the one blow they needed to favour breaking away.

Until definite evidence can be presented that what at present appear to be unfair differences in the tariff structure are really reasonable, it seems silly to present requests such as this one, calculated to split the country wide open, and at the same time talk about the advantages of Confederation to our neighbour, Newfoundland.

"There is a little matter that some of our subscribers have seemingly forgotten entirely. As we have stated before the Post Office regulations require that all subscriptions must be paid in advance. To us it is a very important matter — it is necessary in our business. We are somewhat modest on this subject and don't like to continually speak about such remittances. We must however, take off our mailing list from time to time those who are delinquent in their payments. We don't like to do this as we believe this matter has just been overlooked on the part of some subscribers, yet we must comply with the Post Office laws to keep our second class mailing permit. movement to clean themselves up. At best, some of the major problems raised by the commission remain beyond the reach of legal action or even an industry wide code. The crudity of imagination and execution which debauches taste, the appeal to the "rock in the jaw" as the ultimate arbiter of right and wrong, inanity and poverty of thought — these are likely to remain until the public starts buying something better.

In Others' Words

Everybody's Doin' It

Premier Mackenzie King, about to step down from the leadership of the nation and the Liberal party, hopes that his successor will get more money than he has received, and has urged Mr. Bracken and Mr. Coldwell, if either is returned, to stand out for $50,000 a year salary. It seems that since political parties such as the Social Credit and the C. C. F. have won elections by gifts from business, the Liberal party has to some extent followed suit; for example, the baby bonus instituted by Premier King and his advisors. If these trains on the public treasury continue, all we will be doing is taking money out of the taxpayers and distributing it in a manner that is calculated to win political support among the have-nots.

There is a dangerous precedent in many of these so-called Social Security plans if we are to become wards of the government, and handed out bounties in a manner similar to those paid to our Indian population (old age pensions, baby bonuses and other things that have to be paid for by the hard-working section of the population) then we inevitably will lapse into dictatorship.

As an example, we heard in our church on Sunday morning an interesting address which touched on this phase of our life. A Hyde Park soapbox orator was holding forth. "Look at those fine houses bordering this park; look at 'em, if we're returned to power, we'll be living in them instead of them blosks". Up spoke a small man in the crowd — "But I don't want to live in a big house; I like my own little 'ole'".

Appearing to ignore the interrupter, the spellbinder went on: "Look at these people riding in limousines and luxury cars; if we're elected, we'll be riding in cars like that too".

But I don't want a big car," said the little man; "I like my own little Ford."

The speaker glowered at him, and said: "Look 'ere, you, shut up. When I'm elected you'll just do what you're told, whether you like it or not."

Scarcity of Gophers

Gophers have become such a common animal, that every year they are more or less expected to make their appearance in their usual large numbers. It is a common practice for every farmer to put on a gopher poisoning campaign every year. It is just another phase of regular agricultural practices.

This spring and summer, we have heard many farmers remark that the gopher problem is decidedly small in comparison to other years. Several reasons have been advanced as to why these pests are depleted in numbers. Disease among them has been mentioned, another has been the late spring. But the one that seems most logical is that thousands of these grain marauders were drowned this spring in the unusually heavy spring run-off. Land that was usually dry in other years was flooded, trapping gophers and the families, either drowning or starving them.

There is a definite decline in the number of gophers this year. Besides, the unusually cold moisture, the heavy run-off has contributed immensely to the destruction of one of the greatest of all farm pests.

"Rock Me to Sleep, Mother"

From what is to be gathered from the newspapers there may soon be a contest between professional women wrestlers in Verdun, Quebec, and we are much perturbed by the news.

Our objection is not based upon aesthetic or ethical grounds, or upon any sympathy for the mis-called "weaker" sex which may become involved in these contests. If we remember our history, the girls of Sparta used to wrestle not only among themselves but with males of their own age, and we cannot discover that the gentler sex has got any gentler or weaker since then. We're not worrying about the girls in Verdun; let them grow and strut if enough spectators can be got together to make it pay. Besides, who ever heard of a modern wrestler getting hurt?

What a arms us is the idea that wrestling may become generally accepted as part of a young lad's educational accomplishments. With the development of the athletic type of young womanhood much of the immemorial superiority of the males has already vanished. Mark has recourses, to outrun an irate spouse — or a too ardent nymph — vanished when girls learned to do this in ten flat, to give only one instance.

Wrestling is the ultimate threat; and we hope Verdun will stop it. Instead of rocking the cradle and ruling the world, but must they rock the old man as well? A woman who is "uncertain, coy and hard to please" is much more of a menace having a mastery of the toe-hold. This emancipation of women business has gone far enough. (Montreal Star)

Asking For More

One of the worrying questions of today applicable to the federal and provincial governments and every administrative body in the country is what plans are in view for retrenchment. Under recent years of prosperity enormous revenues have rolled into federal and provincial exchequers. But the capacity for spending has also increased so dangerously that it threatens to get entirely out of control.

And one needn't look to these senior administrative bodies for the most dangerous tendency. Real reports of municipal councils, school boards, hospital boards, public health districts and so on, and what is the theme of discussion? It is new salary demands, higher wage scales, more employees, shorter hours. The question of service seems to have faded entirely into the background, and the whole worry is to find money to pay the higher salaries and wages which are demanded.

Nor can employees be blamed for insisting on higher pay. The soaring cost of living is prompting this demand. And there is no one sign on the horizon to indicate that prices will go down and living become a little easier. So municipalities will go on with their upward revision, using up all reserves, reluctantly holding mill rates into the indeterminate future.

The worry is that all this multiplying expenditure comes out of the same people. Federal taxation, provincial taxation, municipal taxation, the same people pay them all. How long can it continue?

Now that provincial elections are on, one would like to hear the candidates make some statement on how they are going to tackle the darker days when there is less money to operate on. All we can picture a starry spending policy. What are their policies for saving? Or would any candidate dare go to the people on an economy drive, stating specifically the services which he would reduce, the grants which he would refuse? It is pretty much all in waiting services but hating taxes. If some party had the nerve to tell us exactly where it was going to cut down costs, would we vote for that party, or must we have the screws turned tighter before we would support an economy policy by our vote?

Cleaning Up The Comics

In a few months American readers who buy 50,000,000 comic books a month should find them some 30 per cent less lurid, salacious, sexy, violent, and crime-breeding. That is to say the publishers of 30 per cent of the books have undertaken to clean up their own publications.

Some American cities have already banned the worst of the comics. Canada has a blacklist, and Australia bids fair to take action against them. We trust the publishers of the remaining 35,000,000 comic books sold monthly know how to read the signs and portents which foretell the dread hand of censorship unless they join in the

UNDER THE STREETLAMP

Half way down the inkly black and narrow street, Frank Biscare was suddenly pounced on by a burly sort, wearing a mask. Thrusting a revolver into Frank's ribs, he snarled: "Come on, money or your life!"

"Heck," said Frank, "You can take my life. I'm saving up all my money for my old age."

Householder: "Why did you leave your last place?"

Prospective Mary: "It was so dull. They were trying to live on their income."

The young man had recently proposed to the broker's daughter, but she could not make up her mind.

"Why you be true to me?" she demanded.

"I'll be as true as steel," he declared.

The wedding music was played by the church organist, Mrs. Phyllis Chapman Clark. At the appointed hour the wedding party took their places at the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Frank Kuyten, looked very lovely in a floor length gown of white satin, a long veil fastened with orange blossoms in a crown effect. Lily point sleeves and a beautiful pendant, the gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of deep red roses and stephanotis.

Miss Marie Kuyten was her sister's bridesmaid. She chose a lovely floor length pink sheer, with ruffled skirt, and Mrs. George Rison, who looked very winsome in a blue sheer floor length gown, was matron of honor for her sister.

Bridesmaid and Maid of honor each wore Chippendale hats with colors and their bouquets were pink carnations with blue cornflowers and white cornflowers respectively.

Little Marlene Erb, niece of the groom, was very sweet in a long gown of yellow net over silk.

Mr. Eric Jensen of Calgary was groomsmen. The ushers were Messrs. John Kuyten and John Henderson.

During the signing of the register Mrs. Wm. Rison of Strathmore, sang very effectively, "I Love You Truly" with Mrs. Clark accompanying on the organ.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party and guests assembled at the home of Mrs. Rison where the reception was held and a buffet luncheon served. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Henderson, the groom responding. A happy social evening with music and dancing was enjoyed, the young couple leaving later by train for Banff where the honeymoon will be spent.

On their return they will reside in Calgary.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of George MacLean who passed into the Great Beyond a year ago today.

A year has passed since that sad day.

When the one we loved was called away.

God took him home, it was his will.

But in our hearts he liveth still. Deeply missed by wife and family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Lennox and Mrs. Lennox Sr. spent last weekend in Banff.

Power Break Hits Housewives Stores

A power break in the lines just across from the Strathmore High School resulted in considerable inconvenience to residents on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The power went off first about five on Tuesday afternoon, coming on again about eight-thirty in the evening. This break was for only part of the town, and while some homes were going full tilt, many others were virtually shut down.

About five-thirty in the morning the power again went out, remained out until almost three o'clock on Wednesday. Many residents, depending on electric power for stoves and hotplates, were forced to eat a cold breakfast. Electric clocks stopped, refrigerators lost their chill, and air pressure machines ran down.

Many business houses were forced to operate at about half speed due to lack of light, and some could do nothing. The Standard was unable to turn a wheel, and is quite likely to be a day behind because of the loss of time.

Hussar UFWA Holds Good Whist Party

by Mrs. M. C. B.

The members of the Wintering Hills U. F. W. A. held a delightful whist party at the home of Mrs. C. T. Armstrong, District Director, on Tuesday afternoon. Cards were played at seven tables, and there were several guests who did not play. Top honors went to Mrs. Harold Thew, and Mrs. Lewis Clark won the consolation prize. The prizes were donated by Mrs. Armstrong. The proceeds, about $19 are to be used to send a delegate to the Convention in November. The next regular meeting will be held on Friday, July 30th at Mrs. Graham Montgomery's. The district nurse will begin her regular visits to Hussar on Thursday, July 22nd at the home of Mrs. H. A. Treend.

A heavy fog enveloped Hussar early Wednesday morning; visibility so poor that at an early hour one could not see across the street. A grey morning followed. This is the first fog of the season.

Mr. Albert Schaffer moved a house in from the farm on Tuesday; he will make his winter home here. Two other houses are being erected in Hussar, one by the Midland and Pacific Elevator Co. Ltd. and the other by the Independent Grain Co. Ltd., making three dwellings for Hussar-expansion.

There is a great improvement being made on the road north of Hussar; a road gang is working and raising the road bed; also filling in many of the low places, but the slough across the road five miles north is still too deep to be filled. They will gravel the road west of Hussar, soon; this connects with the main highway to Calgary.

Greater Prosperity in Town and Country

Modern Massey-Harris Machines Increase Output per Man and give the Farmers Greater Buying Power

On Saturday nights all across Canada, the shopping centres of towns and smaller cities are crowded with farm automobiles and farm people. Side by side, with the town dwellers, farm people buy all kinds of consumer goods, from breakfast goods to broadloom rugs, from canned goods to cosmetics, from raisins to refrigerators.

Time was when farm buying was more limited, when farmhouse furnishings were more meagre. The change is due directly to the increase in the buying power of farm families.

The reduction in operating costs and increased output per man effected by modern farm machinery gives farm families today more income from their operations in supplying agricultural products for home and export markets and more money for both the necessities and luxuries of life. Greater prosperity for all.

Massey-Harris, builders of farm implements for over one hundred years, has contributed in no small measure to this progress through the development of modern labor-saving farm machinery.
